What is Swing Bed?

Swing bed is skilled care (non-acute care) delivered in a hospital for patients who need short-term rehabilitation after an acute hospitalization.

Rehabilitation Services include:

Skilled Nursing

Daily sterile dressing changes, long-term IV medication administration, enteral nutrition, complex care and assessments

Physical Therapy

Interventions designed to restore function, strength, mobility, and support wound management

Occupational Therapy

Interventions to restore independence with activities of daily living, home safety assessments, wheelchair and adaptive equipment needs

Speech Therapy

Assessments and interventions to address cognitive, swallow, voice, speech, and language skills

Respiratory Therapy

Develops treatment plans for post-acute care respiratory needs

When would swing bed be beneficial for me?

- After joint replacement surgery
- After an accident with injuries
- After a major surgery or prolonged illness
- IV medications (antibiotics, nutrition)
- For complex care management
